STEPPING OUT WITH CAPT'N MORGAN & V.O. SEAGRAM

PLACE — STOP 33 — Sutton Place Hotel

HOURS — Puritan, Toronto's Usual

PRICES — Moderate. Mixed $1.00 - $1.75 & 10% entertainment when applicable

Any hotel that decides to put a bar on its nth (where n=33) floor, must be tainted with revered awe. STOP 33 is indeed worthy of such recognition.

Subdued atmosphere is immediately established by the rich royal blue colour of the ceiling, walls and carpet, complimented by the soft restful chairs in plush green and black leather, and contrasted by the white vinyl lounge sofas. A spectacular view of Toronto east to west, north to south, is perfectly attuned to make your high that much higher. Soft music, mellow lights, the quiet murmur of friendly location, add to a delightfully palatable evening.

As an opener or one to end it all, we would suggest one of Gil's most appetizing specialties. A perfectly explosive compote of vodka, amaretto, greadine, lemon juice, and a touch of genius. This drink does not have an established name as yet but we call it "Lady Godiva", one sip and she — — —!

We must remind you that the final touch of splendour is provided by a three-piece combo and a French singer whose soothing interludes may be enjoyed between 5:30 and 1:00 a.m.

We compel you to enjoy a wonderfully comfortable evening, so let STOP 33 float you away on its gossamer wings.

Place: Tom Jones Steak House, 17 Leader Lane
Hours: 5:00—1:00 am
Prices: approximately $5.00.

Tom Jones is another branch of Harry Barberian (Harry's and Barberian's). It is one of the better steak, salad and potato restaurants that have invaded the dining scene in the past ten years. The interior is traditional for this type of restaurant: richly but tastefully decorated with a warm, subdued air. As yet they are not licenced but a beer keg bar fits nicely into the atmosphere awaiting that hallowed day.

After a delectable French Orion Soup, enjoy their salad with your favourite dressing (we had French and Roquefort, both delicious). The entree menu is simple but the steaks are aged and barbecued so as to bring out their succulent goodness. I always have the Shish Kabob which is an Arabic dish of lamb, tomatoes, onions, mushrooms and peppers barbecued on a skewer; served with goat's milk cheese and tart, black, vicked olives. It happens to be their cheapest entree (about $3.50) but I think theirs is one of the best in Toronto. We also recommend the side orders of sauteed mushrooms and onion rings.

Indeed, for warm hospitality and gracious dining at a moderate price, we certainly recommend Tom Jones Steak House.

Grandma Green's Gourmets

Well, here we are again. From the letters grandma's been receiving, seems some of you are having trouble with the recipe, and the girl no doubt. (If it isn't your cooking perhaps it's your breath). Apparently that double of your favourite is too much for some of you. One guy, after his favourite put in 12-oz brandy and 2oz wine instead of vice-versa. It ain't gonna work that way. (But grandma will try it anyway). In view of the difficulties I recommend that you measure out all the quantities for the recipes then take that double.

Anyway, now for the 'dessert. Here's an all-purpose sauce (is: to get that piece into the kitchen, the living room, the bathroom, etc.). You can put it over ice cream, shortcake, crepes or anything else you want to eat.

LA SAUCE POUR TOUT LES DESIREES

1 can 8oz fruit (apricot, peaches, cherries, strawberries)
4-oz butter
1 cup icing sugar
4-oz brandy
1 of your usual
1oz cointreau.

After measuring out all quantities take your usual. Now melt the butter in a flat saucepan (do not burn). Add the syrup from the can of fruit and boil off some of the liquid stirring constantly for about five or ten minutes. Slowly add the icing sugar after sifting it until the syrup and the butter become miscible and relatively thick. Now boil the sauce again, still stirring, for about 15 minutes and add the fruit letting the sauce mix and boil until thick. Add the cointreau, 2-oz of the brandy and stir until the alcohol has boiled off. If using cherries or strawberries, steep them in brandy for 3 hours in covered dish. The alcohol seeps in by osmosis (ain't in great!). If using apricots or peaches, tear them in the pan into bite-sized pieces.

When serving, heat sauce up to a boil, dim the lights, light match, pour in remaining 2-oz brandy from one side of pan and quickly light and keep stirring up the brandy off the bottom of the pan. (Note: this requires practice to avoid burning the hair off your hands, the tablecloth and your clothes). If you can't get it lit all the better for you and yours. Stir the sauce well to thoroughly mix the Brandy and serve generously.

If this doesn't turn your girl right on, I guess you'll have to wait until the next issue. However with the holidays coming on, that means more available nights to practice. Remember your friendly grandma, if you need help. This sauce is so potent that if you don't get yours you won't give a damn.

Next issue: A meat dish to sink your teeth into.

POLYCANN 6T8

On Thursday evening Nov. 30, fourteen frogs surfed in from Montreal on a crest of beer foam. After the traditional warm up at the Engineering Stores people left for their homes in couples and by Friday morning everyone had had his partner's sister (or brother).

First stop was the TTC tour (very uninspiring!) followed by lunch at the Place (very inspiring!). IBM filled the afternoon with perfect examples of what none of us want to become.

After contacting some emergency standbys and David Green's mother, the Cannonball showed our friends what Skulepower can do. Stops before and after the ball at Penny's helped mellow up the evening for some and drown it for others.

Friday night became Saturday morning and with the aid of ice water and aspirins the day began at the Inn on the Park. Tom Faulkner was on hand to chair the discussion on the "style of Education Today" which digressed to the threat of an oncoming Dinosaur Age. The morning ended with lunch on Mother Bell and a rush to catch the end of the Grey Cup. Saturday night was Skulepower's chance to show their athletic prowess — roller skating at the Terrace. After an hour or two of falling around the arena we all retired to Barb's for the usual merry frivolity and quiet seduction.

After a few hours sleep (very few) we all met at the Lord Simcoe for the last drunk of the weekend — using Cardinal Puff as the vehicle. I gave up after 8 beers, but some kept on trying.

At 4:40 the Polycann Weekend — Toronto edition — ended with the traditional cheers and very weary retreat. Polycann Quebec — February '68.

JEAN DRAPEAU

MECHANICAL CLUB NEWS

This is it guys, 'THE dance' of the year. The exclusive Mechanical Club annual happening is scheduled to be on Friday, January 19, 1968, at the Lord Simcoe Hotel, from 8:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. (unofficially). For only $2.50, you can boogaloo to Toby Jones' Blues Band, eat a free buffet (if you don't like your own), and drink, drink, drink with your favourite 'scub'. (That's double-freespan for girl).

For some unknown reason, we have decided to tempt you even more with the possibility of a free suite and a 50c reduction in ticket cost. Each class has been set a quota of ticket sales as follows: 4th yr. — 25, 3rd yr. — 25, 2nd yr. — 35, 1st yr. — 25. Any class which reaches its quota receives automatically a 'booze and bread-filled get together' suite. In addition the first class to reach its quota receives the 50c a ticket reduction. You can't miss swings, if she doesn't do it now, she will after you impress her with your Mechanical Club — dance. Your class reps now have "the tickets to your happiness".

We planned this dance for the second term to give you time to recover from the stags you attended. (didn't you?) The first and second year took over the Delta Upsilon fraternity house on October 26 and although having a typically great time, had mercy and left the house in approximately the same state they found it (maybe even better). The third and fourth year 'stagger' finally came off on December 6 after a few false starts and due to a wonderful performance by the 'Undertaker' (et al), a grossly good time was had by all — just ashk Ralph.

Don't forget January 19 — its your night!

GIGANTIC

IN JANUARY

Are you tired of spending the first hour in the morning looking for a parking space without a coin-operated hitching post? Do you thing that all there is to driving is buying gas and parking? Is your glove compartment full of parking tickets? Did the cop at the spot check turn his back when he saw you coming because he didn't have enough ink and your daddy wants to know who turned the mileage indicator forward? Would you subscribe to the latest rumour that your friendly neighborhood Engineering Society has managed to have a new six storey parking garage built just north of the Engineering buildings by convincing both the Government and the University that it is intended for medicine? Are you looking for an ideal way to get your Computer-Date out of town for a day? Is that what's troubling you, funky?

Well, take heart! Relief is on the way! You too can discover an untravelled road within 50 miles of Toronto. Yes, Kiddies, the Engineering Car Rally will be in January. This year in the revised rules, we are allowing you about 480 hours to recover from New Year's before you try to unravel the intricate set of instructions that will guide you and your driver or navigator in some of the lesser known spots in southern Ontario. You follow the route of the Mystery Tour buses through the section where the bus drivers are blindfolded. You travel a road that had been used by the D.H.O. when it was disguised as a cow path. If you're lucky enough you might even be able to see other entries on the same road.

So all you keeners out your cars back together over the holidays and sort out your arithmetic, grease your slide rule and be ready to enter the Nth annual Engineering Car Rally!

SKULE NITE - TO BE OR NOT TO BE

Tradition: A long established custom of practice banded down. Dnes this mean sitting in a dark room lit at on end listening to a collection (antiques) of stale one end listening to a collecdrawn-out jokes. Does tradition mean that smut and gross language are the sole vehicle for enjoyment? Dnes tradition mean a night of entertainment(?) by a group of hyper-amateurs?

before decay and ruin in. This has not yet done with Skule Nite.

It is ironic that such forward-reaching faculty engineering cannot see need for euthanasia. we allow such a production under the auspices and approval of the faculty engineering, we down ourselves and further our image.

Editor of the Toike Oike:

I find it necessary to speak my mind re: Trawnna Life. In this issue of the Toike you have succeeded in satisfying those artsies who truly hate engineers. And you have proven to me and my recently converted artistic friends that you are undoubtedly a bunch of disgusting, incompetent, frustrated pigs. If you were worried about your image after the first year Sociology class "horror show", the November 23 Toike has closed the incident.

Should you, perchance, see the light, and decide to reform and possibly make an attempt at a more acceptable publication I suggest you seek advice from the staff of the Gouspaper, one of the most enjoyable newspapers on campus.

Good luck boors, you need it.

R. U. (New I)

Dear Editor:
After reading the November 23 issue of the Toike Oike I fell it is necessary to inform you of my rectin to it. The trash on page four was surpassed only by the unreadable crap which followed on the ensuing pages, and was an insult to its readers.

Previous in this paper and the event wich took place in a First Year Sociology class in the Old Physics Building. I was of the opinion that the Engineering Faculty was composed of fun-loving spirited males. However at this time I have no choice but to change this attitude to one of disgust. You seem to be a bunch of frustrated juveniles who can only find enjoyment in making juveniles who can only find enjoyment in making a sick attempt at using the exploitation of sex as a basis for publishing a "news-paper". There is a limit, and an overworked jnke has one humour.

I am not condemning every engineer, for I realize are many who do not port your actions, but not understand how can quietly sit in the ground while a few proceed to ruin the and name of all who enrolled in the course.

I do not expect this to appear in any subsequent issues of the Toike, because it has no connotation. However feel that it should be and acknowledged as a mon reaction. With this mind I will include two words to insure that at one of your members read it to the end. I ONTARIO.

THE PRESIDENT REPORTS

JOHN MORRIS

This edition is devoted to a 'report' on some of the thoughts and ideas that have occurred to me during the past couple of weeks.

We have seen a lot of conflict recently, and what was originally one single event has grown to a series of questions that delve into most aspects of campus life and personal philosophy. The simple fact that Engineers are thinking seriously about these matters is gratifying to me, and if this thought is the only concrete result of this whole incident, it will have been worthwhile.

It is disheartening to me, however, to see the rift between Engineer's and "artsmen" being hardened. On a question such as this, no real artsmen-Engineer line should be drawn. We must realize that there are many viewpoints and concerning an incident of such complexity as the Dow-Placement Service question, these viewpoints may seem to be violently in opposition. As your president I can only ask you to think about these matters carefully.

One of the comforts that I've found is that the bond which we have developed as Engineers is still as strong as ever really. Even amidst the tension and conflict we found ourselves able to take a break and thoroughly enjoy the best Cannonball in history. Even Allan Bruce, enjoyed the Cannonball although days earlier he had been asked to resign by the society. We must not lose sight of our common ground. That's important to us.

So we see ourselves perhaps on the verge of major change. I wondered whether I should resign — It was apparent that in some ways I didn't share the views of the majority of Engineers. But after much deliberation I decided that I would not resign unless asked to, because I feel that I can well fulfill the obligations of my position. I winced a little at the recall of Allan Bruce — he is a friend of mine and served your Society extremely well over two years and when he chose to resign I'm sure it was with much regret.

I wondered whether Engineers had gotten so involved with jobs, money and the "principles of democracy" that they had forgotten what it's all about. I wondered whether we realized the implication of all the things we are doing every day. Are we acting meaningfully or are we becoming brainwashed by our own cries. I wonder.

I sincerely hope that we can find a real solution to all these problems and that we don't reduce ourselves from this thinking state which we now enjoy. Above all I must ask you to avoid any kind of physical conflict in the future. Rumours of funds established to bail out individuals who turn firehoses on demonstrations are circulating and I can only assume that there is no truth in such. It would be degrading to us all if this kind of action was being contemplated.

I apologize for sermonizing and wish you all well over the Christmas Season.

Peace.

Without committing ourselves, the Toike thinks that the

The Nite Before Christmas

by S.P.Q.R. with sincere apologies to the author

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house.

Not a creature was stirring, all were thoroughly soused.

The stockings and panties had been flung with care, As each girl wished that St Nick would come there. The customers were nestled all snug in the beds,

There was action taking place — not a book being read.

Deep in the dungeons whips were cruelly used, And up in the attic boots and leather ruled.

Dark in the bar, in aimosphere airy,

Danced Maxy the queer and Freddy the Fairy.

But toward the rear of the house dreaming of Christmas,

Waited Voluptuous Velma — in the room of the Mistress.

Word had arrived at the feast of St. Martinus

That Santa this year would seek favours from the mistress.

The mistress however had overindulged,

When she spotted a man with a glorious budge

So the girls drew straws to see who would sub,

For our wonderful madame who had too much love.

Voluptuous Velma bounced high with great glee,

As she drew the straw 'neath the flagellation tree.

The long straw for the winner was chosen with craft,

For Santa was said to have a great shaft.

So Velma was laid out in the mistress's bed,

Her only thought was — could she take what he had.

When down in the hall there arose such a clatter, She sprang from the bed to see what was 'he matter.

Away in the corner she saw a man smashed.

And when he bent over she saw a great Flash.

The moon on her breasts, like newfallen snow,

Gave the lustre of midday to objects below

The silence was deafening, she thought she'd go mad,

And she quickly undressed and bared all she had.

Immediately then the darkness cleared.

And Velma soon realized what she had feared.

When Santa let go with a HA, HA, HA, HA,

She waited in bed with knees slightly ajar,

For the legend to enter, who would go all too far.

The spirit of Christmas was certainly around

For carols and bells echoed from the ground.

Santa bounced up the stairs, with all of his crew, And came down the hall, for he knew what to do

Merriment oozed from his face we are told,

For he entered her room with an air very bold

He stood at the doorway, and stared at the night

And Velma thought that Santa had suddenly dropped dead.

Velma stared at his shirt, for pants he wore none.

And his silly red hat that showed he liked fun.

Suddenly his hand went to his bag,

Slung on his shoulder — for Santa was a tag.

He laughed and he laughed and said "Velma my dear,

There's been some mistake — for you see, I'm a queer".

He quickly bent over and kissed a small elf named Harry.

Sometimes referred to as Harry the Fairy.

Quickly they turned and went down for a beer,

Fervently searching for Maxy the Queer.

Velma lay still, her image'd been shattered,

And soon realized that it had not really mattered.

For beside her in bed snuggling up to her side

Was an aide of old Santa, one of his pride.

So on Christmas eve when you see in the sky

That odd queer Santa — flying by.

At the head of the sleigh — a bright red glow,

You'll know, dear reader, it's not Rudolph's nose — his toes,

But a result of old Velma without any clothes.

S-POINTS

For those who are not aware of it, awards are given to those who represent Engineering in athletics at any level of competition, Intercollegiate, Interfaculty, or Minor League. To obtain a school letter (Athletic S) a total of 15 points must be accumulated. For the Bronze S a total of 40 points is required. To become eligible for these awards applications must be filled out at the Athletic Stores.

These awards and others will be presented at the S' Dance in March. This dance is FREE, featuring a band, favours, and liquid refreshments. So start lining up your computer dates and keep your eyes for further notices.

Further information concerning the distribution of the S' points can be found in the Athletic Association's Constitution, a copy of which can be obtained in the Athletic Stores which is open 1:00-2:00 p.m. Tues., Wed. and Thurs.

LACROSSE

Another glorious lacrosse season ended a few years ago. This year however, we were our usual selves ending with a (3-2-0)-1 record. Grossly embarrassing! But the signs of promise are there: Meatball and Mr. Commissioner will be back for strong seasons next year, Bates has his claim to fame, and Don and Bruce score goals. You can't say we were a lazy squad though, because we were always blowing hard after a good go. Alas, such is fame! Innis the end is nigh.

SWIMMING

Despite rumours to the contrary, Skule isn't going to lose every sports event this year. The Engineering Swim team recently defeated all comers in the first of two interfaculty meets, narrowly drowning P.H.E. The entire team came through in the clutch, but special mention should be made of the performances of Klaus Koch, who was first in 100 yards Butterfly, and helped to win the Medley Relay race. Other members of the Medley team were Ray Rimmel, John Archibald, and Levi (Tumbleturn) Diosady. Our next goal: the '68 Olympics!

FOOTBALL

The Skule football team finished the season tied with Vic for first place in regular season play, only to be defeated by a surprising strong Med's team in the semifinals. This same Med's team almost won the championship against Vic, except for a few bad breaks and a strong come back by Vic. As the old saying goes, wait until next year (for the fourth time).

NOTICE: All persons in possession of equipment can obtain $10.00 by returning the equipment to the Athletic Stores between 1:00-2:00 p.m. on Tues., Wed. and Thurs.

NORTON RESEARCH CORPORATION (CANADA) LIMITED CHIPPAWA, ONTARIO

SENIOR

Engineering Soccer was not too successful this year. The senior team finished second, 1 point behind Trinity, only to lose to St. Mike's (shame) in the quarter finals. Excuses will not be given, except to say that bad luck played an instrumental role in our destiny. This year's team was one of the best that has been fielded in the past few years. The come-back of G. Rothwell and J. Kalman, former Blue's players and the play of promising rookies N. Costadinon, J. Koalevski, Chike, Lim and D. McAuley along with last year's junior goalie M. Chernovsky led the team to 4 wins, 2 ties and 1 loss. Of worthy mention were J. Simanovskis, G. Homatidis, B. DeAbreu, B. Schiavone (manager), S. Leventis (coach).

Our sincere thanks to the two girls, E....., and H..... who, rain or shine, were out lovingly cheering for the team. Good luck next year Skule.

JUNIOR

Our junior team, under the direction of B. DeAbreu, put up a good effort in the second division to obtain an honorary standing. It is encouraging that among the juniors there are a number of good players that will successfully take the place of the graduates from the seniors.

SKULE HOCKEY

Seniors Skule's hockey fortunes have dipped somewhat of late. After a strong start, the momentum of the senior's petered out, as they have managed only one tie in the last four starts. These include a loss to Law 1-0, a tie with S. Mike's 2-2 and losses to Trinity 3-2 and PHE 2-0.

Senior Skule's hockey fortunes should perk up in the near future as the three lines have become set and coach has cracked down on the team's lassitude towards practice and games.

Junior Skule has fared a lot better in the division as they presently lead the league. They suffered their first defeat last week against UC 3-1 where a combination of UC's fire and spirit and Skule's lack of it brought about the defeat.

Previous to this loss, the juniors walloped Scarborough 1-0, almost blasted Meds 1-1 and lambasted St. Mike's 4-2.
